

Legacy & Endowments

Temple Beth-El

Meet Rosely Kaiser : "Our building blocks have been and always will be the Tzedakah from our heart and souls. It keeps on giving to future generations."

I am honored to have been asked to share some of my thoughts about our TBE Legacy and Endowment program. As I write these remarks, one of my favorite quotations comes to mind:

"What you leave behind is not what is engraved in stone monuments but what is woven into the lives of others." Pericles

I have felt that TBE has been my Religious and Spiritual home for the past 22 years. From the evening I walked into the new members' picnic on our lawn, to the welcoming by many seasoned members, and religious leaders, it has been so much more than brick and mortar to me. Our building blocks have been and always be the Tzedakah from our heart and souls. It keeps on giving to future generations.

I have experienced many personal Life Cycle events, both of happiness and sadness, but TBE has been there for me at all times. I have volunteered on all different committees throughout my 22 years and rose to President of Sisterhood for many years, chairperson of many committees, lead on many small and Big events,

My roles have included fund-raising in support of Phase II and Phase III campaigns, and then onto to becoming Temple President. What an honor that was for me and my family. I wore that title, of Temple Beth El with such PRIDE. I wanted to take action on many projects with my fellow congregants and I did!

These activities included social action and engaging our community into our many activities, services, events, and expanding the annual Blood Drive. The event, like TBE, is the gift of life that keeps on giving. The Blood Drive is held every year in memory of my late husband, Robert.

It was very clear to me a true meaning of my mission at Temple was and will always be into the future.

I still love to volunteer when asked or just step in to help with the cause at hand. Hence, my position on the Legacy and Endowment committee was a natural. We have strong leaders, dedicated to accomplish not for themselves, but for our very own Temple Beth-El. We need to carry forward to future generations in a fashion which allow one's self and family members to adopt and adapt to change. We have a common goal to make TBE the most meaningful and fruitful for our future and for those to come!

I truly believe "Significance is always gained through selfless service." Great minds make the difference,

Warmest regards to our Temple Beth-El family,

*Rosely Kaiser
